

AT THE RACES

EXCITING VIRTUAL TEAMBUILDING OR FUNDRAISER!

Experience the excitement of the racetrack! TeamUnity's professionally hosted virtual activity is designed to get players cheering, placing bets, and training or sabotaging horses with all the excitement you'd find at a horse track! An all-original game, At the Races is quick to learn and fun to play -- no experience with real horse racing is required. You'll be able to talk strategy with your team in a virtual environment (face-to-face), and then cheer on your team's horse with the rest of the room (virtually) as the race is run.

Event Description:

The event starts with a two-minute instructional video setting the stage and explaining how to play. The game is very simple, and every teammate has a choice of only three actions. However, deciding how and when to take your actions, coordinating them with your teammates and reacting to what the other teams are doing, affects the outcome of the race and means no two games are ever the same. This is all about collaboration!

After the introduction, our professional LIVE host fields any questions and places everyone into small teams (can be predetermined). The game is played over a series of six races and the first race is simplified as an introduction to get everyone up to speed. Each race starts with a short overview of the track and conditions, then an action phase for about four minutes when teams strategize together in their virtual breakout rooms (face-to-face) and make their decisions. A live market displayed on everyone's screen shows constantly changing payouts of the horses as people take their actions. Do you grab a great price early on (but signal your interest in that horse) or do you wait for others to play their hand and dive in at the last minute?

After the action phase our lively host brings all the teams back into a shared room to watch the race and cheer together. When the race is over the winning teams are announced and a short period of celebration, taunting and groans are quickly followed by the next race and it's back to your breakout rooms to adjust your team strategy and try again.

TeamUnity's At the Races is quick to learn and fun to play. While everyone plays individually and chooses their own actions, the game consistently proves that teams that plan and coordinate their actions together are the most successful - and who does not like to win?
