

MURDER MYSTERY

Put your teamwork and detective skills to good use! Similar to the game Clue, Teams will work together and collaborate to find out what happened to the Senior Executive and why he/she mysteriously disappeared. Our Chief of Security will guide you through this funny, engaging, and fully customized activity where teamwork, mystery, and entertainment collide.

SCENARIO:

Oh No! A beloved Senior Executive has disappeared. Has there been foul play? We'll need your help to find him/her. Our Chief of Security has some surprising information that may help locate your Senior Executive. Is there a conspiracy? A hidden agenda? Are people who we think they are? Anything is possible! Only through collaboration and communication will you and your team be able to successfully assist with the investigation. Essential information will be shared and clues will be provided by your Chief of Security that will implicate "suspects" within your group (based on company information). A crucial 'guest' will make an appearance and the interrogation of 4-5 "suspects" will take place. The group will then be separated and put into Team breakout rooms for the preliminary evaluations.

They will work together to complete a team worksheet by discussing, comparing clues, suspects, and information that was presented earlier. Teams are brought back into the main room and now our missing executive's personal Psychic Adviser joins the meeting and uses her humorous and perceptive mystic powers to reveal information about other possible "suspects". The plot thickens!

Once all information provided by the psychic is shared with the group and any further interrogations completed the Teams are then placed back into Team breakout rooms for the final summation to deliberate and decide who did it and what their motive was. After Teams deliberate, and are back in the main room, Captains reveal their team's predicted verdicts. The Chief of Security then shares "new" information and announces who the surprise perpetrator is and their motive.

And of course, there's a happy ending as the beloved Senior Executive is found!

Our mystery is designed to ignite, engage, and entertain your employee's imagination, using critical thinking skills as they work together to solve the mystery!
